Pleasure to make your acquaintance,

“Skills can be taught but attitude can’t”. Resolute, ingenious, adaptive, and ambitious; these traits have been synonymous with my character and my professional history.

Through my direction I have built organizations and companies, lent my guidance to teams and classes, and orchestrated projects from inception to completion.

I have had the opportunity to wear many hats and have enjoyed the experience gained. For with that experience I have curated an array of skills that would make me a proficient team member.

My recent schooling has provided me with the knowledge and practical experience to be a quality Full Stack Developer. The proceeding apprenticeship and freelancing has further fine tuned those skills.

I would make a dependable and dedicated addition to your team.
